Fiscal Court Takes First Step In Repealing Insurance Tax Premium

Concern Over Use Of Excess Funds

By Ted Cox
tc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

The Garrard Fiscal Court unanimously passed an ordinance that dictated the repeal of the insurance premium tax, to be dropped at the earliest time allowed by state statute. The insurance tax premium will remain on the books until July 1, 2013 even though the hospital debt, issued to pay back loans established to payoff the Garrard Memorial Hospital more than a decade ago, has been paid in full.

The court hoped to enact one of the largest tax cuts in the history of the county last month, however those hopes were dashed due to a state law that bars the insurance tax from being changed or dropped at any time during a fiscal year.

The statute states the legislative body can only enact or change its license fee or rate of tax to be affected on July 1st of each year on a prospective basis only and must be filed with the commissioner of insurance 100 days prior, prompting the current ordinance to be drawn up, explaining the court's intention.

Magistrate Fred Simpson expressed concerns of citizens over how the money continuing to be collected up until next July, with the hospital paid, will be used.

"The court will have to vote on what to do with those funds," Judge Executive John Wilson explained. "It is not a unilateral decision. It is one that has to be voted upon by this governing body."

The debt was originally established in 2002 as an insurance premium tax.

Those tax dollars were expressly used to payoff the hospital debt from a loan taken out by the county to pay off the Garrard County Memorial Hospital when it closed its doors. The tax was a contentious decision at the time and is still looked on by the community as a burden, getting no present services for what most perceive to be an unfair tax.

"There is no way for this money to be spent before a vote to do so goes before this court," Wilson added.

The fiscal court had budgeted to bring in about $500,000 from the insurance tax premium in the 2012-13 fiscal year. The fund on average brings in somewhere around $700,000.

With so much concern from the public on how the funds will be used, Magistrate Doan Adkison suggested the formation of a watchdog committee to oversee how the funds were spent, comprised of citizens from each magisterial district.

"There is a watchdog committee already. It is called the fiscal court," Wilson said.

Garrard Receives New Drivers License Equipment

By Ted Cox
tc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

The Garrard County Circuit Clerk's Office is now equipped with the latest technology in supplying its citizens with their driver's licenses.

All Kentucky counties are scheduled to receive new drivers license equipment this year.

The Garrard Circuit Clerk's office received their new drivers license equipment on Wednesday, October 3

"With the new equipment comes a new look for drivers licenses," Garrard County Circuit Clerk Dana Hensley said.

Debbie Nunemaker, a deputy clerk in the circuit clerk's office, was the first to receive a new license.

"We also have exciting information about the new veteran designation on Kentucky drivers licenses," Hensley added.

The Kentucky transportation Cabinet has received reports from numerous Circuit Court Clerk offices of misunderstanding about how veterans can obtain a drivers license imprinted with the newly authorized veteran designation, which became available on Monday, September 24.

Kentucky patrons who wish to have the designation must present form DD214, the department of defense form that verifies service, at the office of the Circuit Court clerk when renewing licenses.

It is important to remember that the licenses are not free, a veteran will pay the usual $20 renewal fee. However, veterans who renewed licenses between July 12, 2012 when the law authorizing the veteran designation became effective, and September 24, 2012, when the designation became available, can obtain a replacement without paying the standard $12 fee for a duplicate license.

New Solid Waste Ordinance Passes First Reading

Discussions On To Bag Or Not To Bag

By Ted Cox
tc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

The Garrard Fiscal Court unanimously passed the first reading of a completely overhauled version of the County's solid waste ordinance, drafted by the Solid Waste Advisory Committee.

The new ordinance replaces the old solid waste ordinance, which had been amended several times over the past decade.

Concerns were raised over the ordinance before it went up for vote from Magistrates Joe Leavell and Fred Simpson over the specific guidelines pertaining to containers

The ordinance states that every household, business, non-profit organization, school, or other establishment participating in the collection system shall be required to place all waste in an appropriate trash container with a sealable lid.

According to the ordi-

Solid Waste Coordinator Chris Thomason (right), who spoke at Monday's fiscal court meeting in front of the Solid Waste Advisory Committee, explained that metal or plastic trash containers were already required by the old ordinance and included in the contact with the garbage haulers.

nance, appropriate containers would include plastic and metal trash cans, dumpsters, and wheeled trash carts. Excepted from this requirement are recycling bins and dumpsters designed for open-top use.

The ordinance further states that curbside trash shall not be placed at the curb more than 48 hours before a scheduled pick-up.

To Lose A Child

By Jim Cox

To lose a child, especially at so young an age, is a tragedy that no parent should go through. And the heart-rendering pain and anguish seems to never cease but to grow deeper.

Cristina Whittamore, mother of 4-year-old Chase Hampton Roution, who was found unresponsive two weeks ago, says that she relives the agony of that morning with questions of what happened and what could have been done over and over again in her mind.

It may take as long as the middle of November before she receives a medical report on the cause of her child's death but, even then, she will never get over it.

With the preliminary coroner's report indicating no signs of trauma or abuse, Whittamore still had to endure questioning and calls by state police, child protection services and even friends about the events of that morning.

Her child, the son of Joseph H. Roution of Danville, had a medical history of seizures and the ambulance had been called before to the house to attend to her son, she said. But he hadn't had a seizure for months and there were no signs of him being ill that night.

The reporting of the incident had added to her despair of his death, she said, in particular two the points that she felt needed to be clarified.

The boy did get up in the middle of the night to use the bathroom about 1:30 to 2 a.m., Whittamore said, but she never heard him playing in his room afterwards, as reported.

It was not until her fiance, Dewey Osborne, went to the child's room a little after 7 a.m. as he usually does in the morning to wake him, that the boy was found un-

Magistrate Lane Obstruction Case Postponed

By Ted Cox
tc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

The case against a Garrard County Magistrate for hindering prosecution of a Garrard County woman suspected of involvement in a theft has been postponed.

Magistrate Ronnie Lane, who appeared in court in June to plead not guilty to the second degree charges of hindering prosecution, is now slated for a pretrial conference on November 15 at 1 p.m. Lane was expected to appear in court on Thursday, October 4, before the postponement. The case has been assigned to a Madison County prosecutor to avoid any potential legal conflicts of interest, though all proceedings will still take place in Garrard County.

The charges stem from a February 19 phone call between Kentucky State Police Trooper David Fugate and the suspect in a theft, Misty Barker.

In May, Barker was indicted by a Garrard Grand Jury along with James Tipton. Barker, 31, 28 Buck Trail Drive, Lancaster, faced two counts of theft by unlawful taking, over $500. According to the indictment, on February 11, Tipton took posses-

Alabama Fugitive Arrested In Lancaster

By Pattie Cox
pc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

Woman Had 13 Felony Warrants Dating Back to June 2000

A minor traffic stop has led to the capture of a woman wanted in Alabama on 13 felony warrants dating back to June of 2000.

Michelle Norsworthy, 36, currently living at 3557 Fall Lick Road, was pulled over late last Tuesday night when Lancaster Police Officer Ryan Hughes noticed the vehicle she was driving had only one headlight burning. A routine check turned up the warrants that had been issued for theft-of-property in Dekalb County, Alabama, more than 12 years ago.

Hughes indicated that Norsworthy was aware of the warrants and that she had been stopped in Kentucky previously but was told out-of-state warrants could not be served here. However Hughes said that is not the case.

He presented the information to Judge Oliver who signed the warrant based on the fact that the warrant from Alabama for Norsworthy had been signed by an Alabama judge with a "please hold" order and an intent to extradite her.

Norsworthy was arrested without incident and remains incarcerated in the Lincoln County Detention Center without bond on a charge of being a fugitive from another state. Preliminary extradition papers have been sent, Hughes added.

Calls to the DeKalb County Sheriff's Office for information regarding the nature of the alleged crimes were not returned.

Former Circuit Judge Remembered For Compassion,

By Benjamin S. Rossi

Much like the scales of justice, Robert Joseph Jackson is remembered as a judge who was balanced by compassion and fairness.

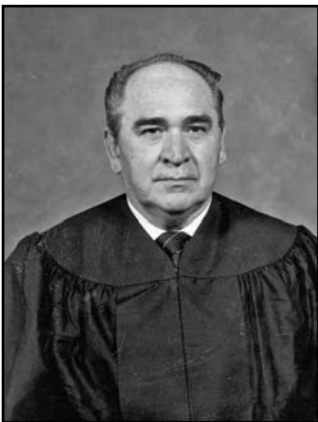

"He was known to adhere strictly to the letter of the law, and loved for it," said his daughter, Maryanne Jackson Clay. "But we also knew him for his humor and wit."

The Hon. Judge Jackson served as the circuit court judge for the 13th Judicial District, which included Jessamine and Garrard counties as well as Lincoln County for a short time, for 16 years between 1984 and 2000. But he was more than just a judge. Jackson was a selfless volunteer, an avid teacher and a devoted chaplain. He died Sept. 28.

Circuit Judge Hunter Daugherty said Jackson was a pillar in the legal community.

"He was a great storyteller, both on and off the bench, and a gifted preacher," Daugherty said. "He was a conscientious judge who took pride in being prepared for every session of court. He will be missed by all of us in the legal community."

Jackson was born March 24, 1932, in Philadelphia, Pa. and joined the United States Air Force at a young age. In the armed services he met his wife of 61 years, Helen Kenney Jackson, while they were both stationed at a base in Texas. They fell in love, married, and when Helen became pregnant, she left the Air Force while he served a tour in Korea.

Circuit Judge
Robert J. Jackson

After an honorable discharge, the couple moved to Helen's home state of Kentucky, where they would spend the rest of their lives together.

In 1954, Jackson joined the Lexington Police Department, rising through the ranks to detective.

"The law and justice was always important to him, straight down the line," Maryanne said. "When I was little, my father would work all day as a police officer and then take me to law school with him at night, which is probably why I became an attorney."

Jackson attended the University of Kentucky in 1959 and 1967 when he received his Juris Doctorate degree. On top of his law degree, he focused on raising his family and devoted his life to God by going through seminary to become a chaplain. He used his seminary degree all the while to minister at not only his home church but also at the Fayette County Detention Center and later the veterans hospital.

In 1978, he started his journey in Jessamine County as the domestic-relations commissioner in the circuit clerk's office. After four years, he became the assistant Jessamine County attorney until moving to behind the bench as the 13th Judicial Circuit Court judge, retiring in 2000.

"I can't say enough; he was known as being fair, no matter the issue, and he was respected for that," Maryanne said. "Over the years people would come up to him or the family and say how he helped them or changed their life for the better during his time as judge."

If there was anything beyond his wife, three children and six grandchildren that he loved, it was his two basset hounds, Gus and Gertrude, whom he just called "Gigi." The family set up the fund for him with the Bluegrass Bassett Rescue in Louisville.

His passing services were a private matter for the family, but Maryanne said she believes his memory will live on in Jessamine and other counties.

A painting of him hanging in the second-floor circuit courtroom serves as a reminder of the lives he affected through his rulings there.

Commonwealth Policy PAC Supports Shell

Dear Editor,
We'd like to take a moment to encourage your readers to get to know the candidates on the ballot before they vote this election. Presidential races sometimes overshadow down-ticket races and suck all the proverbial air out of the room. This year is no exception. Please know there are other very important offices on the ballot including all 100 seats of the Kentucky State House.

This election you'll have a clear choice for your next representative in the State House when it comes to pro-life, pro-family and fiscally responsible policies. That's why the Commonwealth Policy PAC is endorsing Jonathan Shell. Mr. Shell is committed to fixing the broken state pension system. He is pro-life and believes marriage is between one man and one woman. He is also fiscally conservative and believes that when times are tough that government should tighten its belt and live within its means just like the rest of us. It's time for a new direction in Kentucky and Jonathan Shell represents bold new leadership. He is a candidate we can trust to fight for our values and a candidate that will make us proud while serving.

Very sincerely yours,
Richard Nelson,
Executive Director,
Robby Mills,
Chairman,

NEVER GIVE UP

By Jimmy Naylor

A few lights off last Friday
I felt I had kinda succeeded
Still too many turned on
And way before they were needed.

But I've harped for two years
To get this little bit of correction
It would have been way too much
To expect it done to perfection.

Maybe they thought I had their checkbook
Under my control a day or two
Then I could waste or spend freely
Like they do to me or you.

Then they could sell some candy
For money for food or rent

Or stand begging on the square
For the money that I spent.

Of course a lot of our school leaders
Don't pay property tax anyway
So they won't really care
Much about the next thing I say.

That thing would be the school tax
Is over half the total bill
So how you spend the money
To the taxpayer it is a big deal.

A few lights off helped a little bit
But keep striving to save a lot
For no matter what Obama says
We better protect the little bit we got.

The Antics Of Children

By Irene Willoughby
The things children do may surprise, overwhelm or scare you half to death. Some of these I either heard about, saw for myself or maybe did similar things myself.

I have not gotten permission from any of these to write about them so if any sound like someone you know don't tell him because it's probably not him anyway.

I heard of some boys who grew up on the river. They were constantly getting into trouble with their parents. If they were told not to do certain things they were sure to do them. One thing was not to take the hog scalding box into the water. A scalding box was usually made of wood and covered with tin. This was used to heat water in during hog butchering time. The hogs after butchering were put into the hot water to loosen the hair. They were scraped and hung up to cool. The boys, being very adventurous, disobeyed and put the box in the water and used it as a boat to get across the river. The parents had gone to town and left the older boys in charge of the baby who was still in diapers. So they put him into the box and rowed it to the other side. Needless to say they were in much trouble when the parents found out what they had done.

Another time these same boys climbed onto the top of their tin-roofed house. The roof was nailed on with lead headed nails. These lead heads could be used for fishing line sinkers. So the boys were busy pulling the heads off the nails so they caught and were in trouble again.

I heard of another little boy who got in trouble for crowding his little brother over a creek bank. The bank was pretty high but he said he looked down upon his little brother and saw that he wasn't hurt before going on with the rest of the family who were walking ahead of them. The dad missed the little boy and asked the other boys where the missing brother was. The "crowder" replied he thought he slid over the creek bank back a ways. "Trouble", this same little boy, threw a piece of brick at his grandmother. "Trouble again".

He and his brothers walked to school and sometimes on their way home they would play in the creek, catching minnows or fish that were hiding under little rock ledges. One day their dad came looking for them since they were so late. They saw him coming with a switch in his hand so they knew quite well what was coming. The youngest of the three didn't get punished because he said he didn't have a choice because he had to go wherever his brothers took him. I guess having older brothers can be a good thing sometimes.

I wouldn't know because I am the eldest child in the family so whatever misbehavior took place it was my fault. Even when the younger children got into some form of mischief it was still my fault because "I should have been watching after them."

My girls were good children and pretty easy to raise and respected me and their dad. Still they got into enough trouble on

The baby was a very active child and would get hurt if someone wasn't watching her and even sometimes if we were. For instance one time she climbed up in a chair and accidentally turned the coffee pot over on her burning herself pretty bad. Another time it was a bowl of hot spinach which stuck to her hand and she got a bad burn before I could get it off. She still has the scar from that.

The oldest was very active and wasn't afraid of anything. When she was two I sat her on my back porch while I hung up the laundry on the clothes line to dry. I had give her some toys and being a hot day she was wearing just a diaper. When I finished hanging up the laundry and came over to the porch I saw she had something in her hand and her little belly was covered with little black hairs. I discovered a hairless wooly worm in her little hand. She had been pulling the hair off the wooly worm. She was a redhead and has very sensitive skin so she was broken out in a rash for a day or two from this.

My second daughter would carry anybody's baby around who would let her. Against my instructions she would carry her younger sister on her hip until the baby's feet would almost drag on the ground. I told her many times to not do it, that she would have back problems when she grew up which now she does.

The third daughter, as well as the others, is very sweet to me and her dad. When she became a teenager and short skirts were very much in style her dresses were all still the same length. So she took her needle and thread to school and hemmed her skirt on the school bus up a little. I may not have noticed it the first time it was in the laundry but eventually I did. I would remove the hem and later find that it was back We played this game for a period of time. After a while I gave up. She just wanted to dress like the other girls. She hung out with another preacher's daughter who may have been doing the same thing I don't know. Her dad was pretty strict also. Pants weren't an in thing like they are now.

Our fourth daughter was a shy, quiet little girl who was always wanting to go home from school with one of her girl friends. There were four girls who were "bosom buddies" through the school years and they still are. I don't recall her getting into trouble very much. She was easy to raise.

Our fifth daughter was a mixture between Mary Ellen Walton and Scarlett O'Hara of "Gone with the Wind". Mrs. Melanie was my favorite character. Although she was named after one character she turned out very much like the other. She was very hard working daughter and a cleaning perfectionist. She cleans my house anytime she come to visit.

Our sixth, a very hard working and easy going daughter always tries to please and she letsother people take advantage of that virtue. I could never keep up with my sewing scissors because she and her baby sister would sneak them out to cut paper dolls, etc. out of books and magazines. I didn't want them to cut paper with my sewing scissors when I could find them.

Our youngest loves animals and being outside. All the children stayed outside until dark or I made them come in. It was no surprise to see her up in a tree or on top of the house. She played with Barbie dolls when she was little and drove the tractor for her dad when she grew up. She was another very hardworking girl who now has an overload on her plate.

I pray for them all that God will watch over them, lead and guide them.

I'm sure you have a lot of amusing and scary things that happened with your children. If we put them all together and wrote a book we might have a best seller.

A Killing Frost

POINTS EAST
By Ike Adams

My Mom always said that a pumpkin or cushaw would grow until frost killed the vine.

The message there being, "don't bring your pumpkins and winter squash indoors until after there's been at least one or two good heavy frosts."

On the other hand, she dreaded, as I do to this day, the first killing frost. Many, many times in my youth I helped her pack old tarpaulins, bed quilts, burlap feed sacks and even our good over coats to the garden well after dark on October nights.

One or the other of us would hold up a carbide light so that the other could see how to spread frost protecting covers over that last little row of fall beans and pepper and tomato plants that might still have a lot of life left in them if they could dodge the first few early frosts. Just after sunrise the next morning, all the covers got packed back to the house so that the plants could soak up sunlight throughout the day.

Mom could walk out on the porch just before dark and almost always accurately predict whether or not it was going to frost that night and sometimes she would say something like, "Well, it may frost a little bit but it ain't gonna hurt nothing." And me and or my little brother, Keeter, would breathe a sigh of relief that we were not going to have to spread and cover stuff that night because, truth be known, we'd been tired of green beans, served up at supper with peppers and maters, for several weeks and we were actually craving that first big pot of pinto soup beans, a good, strong onion and a pan full of corn bread fritters.

But Mom always swore that the best green vegetables of the year were the ones that got ripe during Indian Summer so she put more work into fighting off cold weather in early autumn than she did in fighting spring-time weeds.

And she was right, of course, at least about the taste. I don't put nearly as much effort into frost damage protection now as I did when I was much younger but all you have to do is bite into a big bell pepper or late tomato, feel the crunch and swoon at the flavor to realize that vegetables don't get any better than this.

From the looks and feel of things tonight and according to the forecast, Loretta and I are going to have to spend the better part of one evening this week packing in the last few bucket full of summer veggies from my garden because old Jack is nipping at the air. We will try to keep some tomatoes ripening in the basement and on window sills until well into November. She will stuff a crisper drawer in the fridge full of bell and banana peppers and we will be begging friends and family members to take some of this stuff off our hands before it goes to waste.

In the meantime, I have a little short row of snow peas getting ready to bloom and they may just make it. We have mustard, kale and collard greens ready to pick, enough to feed the village, and the turnips are commencing to show their stuff. There's still plenty of good eating set to come our way from the garden, frost or not.

An Encouraging Word

WHEN COMPROMISE IS NOT AN OPTION

By
Howard Coop

By Howard Coop

Many years ago when I was a small boy attending a two-roomed country school in Cumberland County, I was introduced to Kentucky history. As a result of that exposure, I developed an interest in, and appreciation for, that subject. That interest led me to study Kentucky history whenever possible in both high school and college, and I found that study rewarding. It helped me to learn a great deal about the state in which I have spent most of my life.

After learning about the settlement of Kentucky, one of the first bits of Kentucky history that I remember from that study involved Henry Clay, one of our state's noted statesman and orator. As a resident of Lexington, Clay, over a number of years, served our state in Washington as an influential member of both the House of Representatives and the Senate. As a Senator nearing the end of his life, he was instrumental in formulating the Compromise of 1850 that led to him forever after becoming known as the "Great Compromiser."

Early in life I learned the meaning of compromise. To compromise a settlement is made between contending groups with some opposing views in which each side agrees to give up some demands and makes some concessions. There are times when compromise may be appropriate and necessary, for the process of give and take may lead to real accomplishment.

As a small boy, the idea of compromise raised a serious question in my mind, for good parents and good teachers had instilled in my mind the idea that, in life, some things are right and some things are wrong; there is to be no compromise. At all time and under all circumstances, one is obligated to stand firm without wavering for that which is known to be right.

There may be, and probably are, times in life when situations develop that make compromise necessary, but when principles of right and wrong are involved, compromise is not a viable option.

Bud Montgomery

for State Representative of Garrard and Madison Counties

The 36th District is the seat formerly held by Lonnie Napier who is retiring after twenty-eight years of distinguished service.

Issues: I am a conservative democrat.

- I am, and have always been, pro-life.
- I have an A rating with the NRA.
- I believe that marriage is a sacred bond between a man and a woman.
- I am actively involved in bringing new jobs and economic growth to Garrard and Madison counties.
- I want to reduce the tax burden on middle class working families by making everyone pay their fair share. The wealthy elite should not get a free ride.
- I am committed to fighting wasteful government spending at every opportunity.
- I will do everything possible to keep the promises made to our retirees, senior citizens and veterans.
- I believe that drug abuse is a serious threat to the wellbeing and future of our children and our district. I will support drug control, punishment for the suppliers and rehabilitation for the victims.

Politicians running for office can promise anything. But statements of ideology and campaign promises mean very little. James 2:18 says "You have faith, and I have works: show me your faith without your works, and I will show you my faith by my works."

Qualifications: Bud Montgomery is...

- Current President of the Berea Chamber of Commerce, Chamber "Man of the Year" in 2008 and is an active member of the Economic Development Committee.
- Owner, with his family, of Montgomery Farm & Garden and Silver Creek Storage since 2005.
- Former Central Kentucky regional manager for Carquest for nine years where he was responsible for annual budgets of twenty-eight million dollars, twelve stores and a hundred and thirteen employees. During his leadership, the region won numerous corporate awards for growth and sales volume.
- Distinguished twelve-year military career, received the Army National Guard F 135th Aviation Award in 1996.
- His opponent appears to be a nice young man with campaign materials limited to personal beliefs and campaign promises because he has only been out of school for two years and has only had one job.

Bud Montgomery has the maturity, work history, proven success and leadership skills to represent us in Frankfort.

Insurance Tax

(From Front)

“None of this money can be spent without your vote. The money is reported every month on our financial statement. We can set any kind of committee we want to, but any citizen in Garrard County can already come in at any time and view our financial statement and the bottom line on our bank account. It is all subject to open record laws.”

The funds garnered from the insurance premium tax are collected into a separate interest bearing account, separate from the county’s general fund.

“We just want to ensure people that our intention is to get this tax dropped as soon as law allows,” Magistrate Joe Leavell said.

Simpson added that he has had at least 12 to 15 suggestions from constituents on how the county should use the funds.

“People don’t understand how we could have misjudged, in preparing this year’s budget, how much was needed to pay off this hospital debt,” Simpson said.

Wilson said that trying to pin down an end date on the payment would have been like shooting a moving target and could have left the taxpayers holding a significant debt of up to $100,000 with no funds budgeted, or coming in, to pay it. The county could not have been aware the debt was paid until just days before the August meeting of the court, when the announcement was made that the hospital debt was paid in full.

No funds have entered the fund in the past two months, mostly coming in on a quarterly basis.

“It is very possible to know how much to expect over a year’s time,” But pinning down how much comes in on a monthly basis is impossible,” Wilson explained after the meeting.

The Kentucky Department of Insurance regulates the commonwealth’s insurance market, licensed agents and other insurance professionals, monitors the financial condition of companies, educates consumers to make wise choices and ensures that Kentuckians are treated fairly in the marketplace.

For more information or to view the monthly financial statement, which shows how much goes into the insurance premium fund, contact the judge executive’s office at (859)792-3531 or visit the second floor of the Garrard County Courthouse.

A Lost Of A Child

responsive.

Osborne immediately woke Whittamore and called 911 while she went to see about her son. She thought it was a seizure and attempted to resuscitate the boy but was unable.

It took a while to get through to 911. Osborne called on a cell phone and the call went to Boyle County dispatching services. The dispatcher had him give his name and phone number and minutes later the Garrard County dispatcher returned the call.

Distraught, Osborne went outside and that was when a neighbor, Shelly Strohl, who was driving by, asked him if there was anything she could do.

He never did call her, as was reported, he said. “Nobody called her from here anyway,” he said. “I didn’t know who she was until that day.”

Strohl said another neighbor in Rolling Meadows subdivision heard it on a scanner and had called her.

Both Osborne and Whittamore said they were glad she was there.

Strohl went into the house, took the phone from Osborne and described the condition of the child to 911. She then went into the bedroom to comfort Whittamore.

When the ambulance and police came, Whittamore and Osborne could not stay in the house so they decided to go outside, not realizing that the Kentucky State Police, as is their policy, would not permit them back into the house.

“We understand the police had to do what they had to do,” Osborne said, “but we were locked outside of our house, standing in the rain.”

Whittamore added that if something tragic happens, you should never leave the inside of the house.

“Don’t leave the inside of the house because that is it,” she said. We were standing outside in the rain without an umbrella and could not go back inside,” she said, with her little boy lying inside.

Later neighbors brought them umbrellas, Osborne said.

“We were pulled back in, one at the time, for the deputy coroner to interrogate us,” he added. “I probably told 10 different people the story that morning and all of sudden they left and nobody knew they were gone.”

The events that followed the death of her son did leave her feeling “disrespected,” Whittamore said. But she wants to know, as well as wanting everyone else to know, what happened to her son and to find steps to prevent this from happening to another child.

“People need to know how to fix it,” she said. “...Everybody needs to know that Chase Hampton Roution was a 4-year little boy that had the best life that you could imagine and what happened to him. Everybody needs to try to figure out what went wrong.”

sion of a concrete saw valued at more than $500. Nearly a week later Barker took possession of a saw valued at more than $500.

Upon investigating that incident, Fugate was attempting to contact Barker, whom he tracked down by telephone.

According to a criminal summons obtained by the Central Record, when Fugate contacted Barker by cell phone she explained that she could not meet with him because she had an outstanding warrant in Jessamine County. After speaking for a few minutes Barker told the trooper that she was getting in a vehicle with a Garrard County magistrate.

She then allegedly handed the phone over to Lane, who Fugate identified by voice and knowledge of Lane.

Fugate explained to Lane that

Barker had an outstanding warrant and that he needed to talk with her in relation to another investigation. He told Lane to surrender their whereabouts so that he could in turn make the arrest.

According to the summons, Lane allegedly denied the request of the officer and was informed that charges could be filed against him.

Fugate attests that Lane replied, “Do what you have to do,” before ending the call.

Lane was charged on May 29.

License

(From Front)

The charge for duplicate is waived for those veterans and those veterans only. The waiver expires December 31, 2012.

Veterans who have not yet renewed, and who wish to obtain a license with the veteran designation before the renewal date, may do so but must pay the $12 fee for a duplicate license.

In all cases, veterans must present the form DD 214 at the circuit court clerks office to print a license with the veteran designation.

“If it is time to renew your license and you are a veteran please bring your DD 214 form with you and my staff and I will be happy to assist you in receiving your new drivers license,” Hensley said.

The Garrard circuit clerk’s office will be closed on Monday, October 15, as the Kentucky branch shut down for the last of three statewide mandatory furlough days in 2012.

Please visit their website, courts.ky.gov, for information needed to renew, transfer or to change address on your drivers license.

along the roadway.

“Most folks take a bag down the driveway in their truck on the way out. And the haulers don’t seem to have a problem with it,” Simpson said.

However, Thomason maintained that the solid waste department was not going from driveway to driveway recording violations and that the new ordinance would in no way affect the way garbage is collected in the county currently.

Solid Waste

Empty trash containers shall be removed from the curb no more than 24 hours after being serviced.

“Many of the people on my street put their garbage out in bags,” Leavell explained. “I’ve even heard talk from at least one that they will drop their garbage service if the ordinance passes.”

Solid Waste Coordinator Chris Thomason, who spoke at Monday’s fiscal court meeting in front of the Solid Waste Advisory Committee, explained that metal or plastic trash containers were already required by the old ordinance and included in the contact with the garbage haulers.

“If these people are putting the bags out and nobody has made complaints then they have nothing to worry about,” Thomason said. “This is language included to give us an avenue of action should a problem situation arise, where we are receiving complaints from neighbors.”

Simpson maintained also that most people on his street, Sugar Creek Road, also use bags due to the terrain and nature of the hills

Paint Lick Community Art Center Celebrates

Grand Opening

The Paint Lick Community Arts Center,

formerly First Southern National Bank building in Paint Lick, celebrated its Grand Opening Friday, October 5 from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The evening began with an official ribbon-cutting ceremony held by the Garrard County Chamber of Commerce, followed by a tour of the first floor facility which includes a “gathering room” for meetings, workshops, recitals, lectures and other community events; a “tea room” for small group meetings, discussion groups and clubs; and finally a retail shop called, “Halyvonne’s Secret Garden” which will offer fine art objects and collectibles for sale.

“What an exciting day in Paint Lick to come into the community and promote the arts,” Mary Adrienne Davis, with the chamber of commerce, said, “It is so great to have a center, a place, for all of our arts to come together and it is great to choose Paint Lick as the place to do that.”

Refreshments were served and live music was performed by fiddler Beau Hughes and banjo player Austin Perkins.

“I’ve lived in Garrard County all of my life and I think that the Davis’ already know more people than I do,” Joe Brown said. “That’s just a testament to how committed and interested they are to Garrard County and the community they live in.”

Judge Executive John Wilson called the event a grand new beginning for the community of Paint Lick.

Another main feature of the evening was the opening reception for the first community art exhibit on the walls of the gathering room. Paintings by students of Hal and artworks by other community artists were on display. The artists were in attendance to talk with the viewers as well.

Hal and Yvonne Davis have been living in a remodeled apartment on the second floor of the building and for the last number of weeks have been preparing the first floor center and shop spaces. Their mission in Paint Lick is to provide the space and opportunity for members of the community to experience the arts and thereby enrich their lives.

“One thing that I’d like to say in relation to our coming here,” Hal Davis said. “It actually began with the Friends of Paint Lick. We found those lovely ladies and we fell in love. The rest is history.”

The Davises have planned many arts activities for the months of October, November and December and are encouraging Paint Lick and area people to sign up now for the classes, workshops and events planned.

“Our classes are going great. The students are developing their own style of painting and they really enjoy that,” Hal Davis added.

For more information about the center and planned activities, call Hal and Yvonne Davis at 925-2741 or email them at halyvonnedavis@gmail.com.

Lions Tie 4-4 On Senior Night

By Danny Elam

Garrard County came back from a 4-0 deficit to earn a 4-4 tie with Estill County last Thursday on Senior Night.

"This was one of the most intense games I have ever coached," Garrard coach Kevin Green said. "The fan support and the way the fans got into it and the way the boys got into it in the second half."

It looked like it was going to be a disappointing end to the regular season when Estill County took a 3-0 lead into the second half on three Andrew Witt goals, two coming within a minute late in the first half.

Witt scored again just six minutes into the second half but Barry Rich scored for the Golden Lions a minute later and give some life to the Garrard offense.

The Lions had an offensive outbursts of their own later in the half, scoring three times in four minutes to tie the game at four.

Jesse Ray got the first score on a header with 22 minutes to play in the game.

A minute later Ethan Smith scored from about 25 yards out and just a couple of minutes later Dylan Ward got on the board off a direct kick.

Neither team could score after that but Estill had the most chances pounding Garrard keeper Brandon Shuey with shots but Shuey was up to the task turning them all away.

"Brandon had a great game. If we gave a game ball he would have gotten it," Green said.

The Lions closeout Green's first regular season at 5-6-1 while Estill enters tournament play 5-9-1.

The Garrard County volleyball team saw its season end Monday night with a 3-2 loss to Lincoln County in the 45th District Tournament at Boyle County.

The Lady Lions jumped on top with a 25-20 first game win but lost game two 27-25.

Garrard County lost game three 25-22 but bounced back to take game four 25-21 to force a fifth and deciding game which the Lady Patriots won 15-7.

Garrard ends coach Dickie Gilbert's first season at 9-19 while Lincoln County (14-14) moved on to face Boyle County in Tuesday night's title game.

Visiting Bourbon County used four big plays to slip past Garrard County 28-8 Friday night in a key Class 3A District 5 battle at Dye-house Stadium.

The game started out as a defensive battle. After Garrard stopped Bourbon on downs on the Colonels' first possession the Lions were also forced to punt the first time Garrard had the ball.

After taking over on their own 24 yard line the Colonels quickly moved to the Bourbon 47 but on the next play Garrard linebacker J.T. Lyon picked off a Dalton Pope pass at the Garrard 45 yard line and returned it to the Bourbon 42.

From there the Lions got on the scoreboard first, scoring when quarterback Billy Abney found Garrett Caudill in the end zone from 18 yards out on a fourth and seven play. Caudill powered in for the two-point conversion and the Lions led 8-6 with 18 seconds to play in quarter one.

After holding the Colonels on downs on the ensuing possession Garrard was unable to move the ball and had to punt.

Bourbon took over at its own 32 yard line and after moving to the Garrard 45 Pope found Charles Johnson with a short pass that Johnson took all the way for Bourbon's first score but Jaylen McPherson made a nice stop on Brent Holman to stop the two-point conversion run and protect the Garrard lead.

Garrard threatened to score again on its next possession but came up short.

After taking the ball at its own 29 yard line the Lions moved deep into Bourbon territory. On a fourth and six play Abney hit Lyon with a 13 yard pass to the Colonel 18 yard line. Three Noah Williams run left Garrard with a fourth and under a yard play at the Colonel nine yard line but Bourbon stopped Williams short of the first down to end the drive.

for the Garrard 8-6 lead at the break.

Both teams has trouble moving the ball to start the third period but the Colonels got a huge play with 1:12 left in the quarter when Pope found Jaxson Hilander with a 72 yard scoring pass and after Pope hit Hayden Cox with the conversion pass the Lions suddenly found themselves trailing 14-8

On it's next possession Garrard again moved the ball deep into Bourbon County territory but Williams was once again stopped a yard short on a fourth and three play at the Bourbon 16 yard line.

The Colonels took advantage of the big stop when on the very next play Kentayvous Hopkins went 84 yards for touchdown with 6:13 to play.

Bourbon's Joey Gomez picked off an Abney pass on the Lions next possession and returned it 70 yards for a touchdown to dash any hopes of a Garrard comeback.

The loss coupled with Bath County's 36-35 win over Powell County pretty much insures the Lions of being on the road the first round of the playoffs.

The Lions had 218 total yards with 144 coming on the ground. Williams who rushed for 340 yards a week ago at Powell County was held to 83 yards on 32 attempts Friday night.

Bourbon ran for 176 yards with Hopkins getting 151 yards on 16 carries but 84 of those yards came on the one scoring run.

Garrard now stands at 3-4 overall and 1-2 in district play.

Bourbon is 7-0 overall and 3-0 in district play.

Lions Blanked In District Opener

By Danny Elam

delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

Garrard County was blanked 10-0 Monday night at home in the 45th District Tournament to end coach Kevin Green's first season at 5-7-1.

The already underdog Lions were playing without three starters due to Spring Break and were outshot 38-2 in the game by the Admirals.

Danville senior midfielder Christian Gateskill-Fuqua scored six times for the Admirals. Shawn Ramos had a pair of scores and Noe Ayala and Damir Karapandzic each scored one goal.

Ayala's goal just three minutes into the game got the scoring started. Gateskill-Fuqua had four on his goals before the half and Ramos scored twice to send the Ads into the break with a 7-0 lead.

Gateskill-Fuqua scored two times in the first five minutes of the second half and Karapandzic scored on a penalty kick to end the game seven minutes into the second half.

Danville (10-7-2) met Lincoln County Wednesday night in the championship game.

Kentucky Soccer Star Gilliland Growing Stronger With Every Test Of Spirit

By Mark Maloney
mmaloney@herald-leader.com

Jon Lipsitz knew what he had to do even before he landed the job as coach of the Kentucky women's soccer team. He made that clear when he met with Mitch Barnhart, UK's athletics director.

"When I interviewed with Mitch, he asked about building this program and how to make it special," said Lipsitz, now in his fourth season as coach of the Wildcats. "I said to him, 'There's a player, Arin Gilliland, who lives right down the road. And if the University of Kentucky can't keep a great player like Arin Gilliland home, then we have no chance to be special.'"

Lipsitz, then coaching at Charlotte, said his first priority if hired by UK would be to land Gilliland.

"I had watched her play many times and we always say our job is to keep the best at home," he said. "But I think that this was another level of 'best' that I don't think Kentucky has ever seen as a youth player, so I specifically referenced her in my interview."

Lipsitz got the job and his recruit.

Gilliland, a sophomore from Wilmore, has helped UK to an 8-3-1 start (3-2-1 Southeastern Conference). An outside back, she is tied for second on the team with 10 points (three goals, four assists).

Her path has not been smooth. Never mind a torn ACL last year.

About the time Lipsitz was interviewing with UK is when Gilliland's mother, Letita, was diagnosed with colon cancer. Soon, the cancer spread, taking her life last April.

Arin brought Letita plenty of joy, though. Rising from second-team all-state as a freshman at West Jessamine, Arin finished her high school career as an All-American and Kentucky's Miss Soccer.

With her mother's health failing, Arin chose to graduate from high school a half-year early.

"We weren't sure of the time frame she had, and I really wanted her to be able to come here and see me play a few games," Arin said. "Because that's what she's always dreamed of. She's always talked about 'I want to be able to watch you play college soccer' and all that. She always thought I was going to go to like UCLA. ... I decided to come here for her."

Letita lived to see not only spring matches, but a regular season in which Arin earned second-team All-SEC and Freshman All-SEC honors.

"The fact that she got to see me play some games, and more than I ever dreamed of, was awesome," Arin said.

Then came the torn ACL in her right knee, an injury that knocked her off the national U-20 squad.

Lipsitz says that her comeback is due to "pure work" and rehab. And, most importantly, mental toughness.

Lipsitz says that Gilliland was about 75 percent healthy at the start of the season and is about 95 percent now, "and I doubt our opponents can tell she's not 100 percent."

"It's more mental than physical," Gilliland said. "Because, yeah, it's a new knee. But everything's the same fundamentally. It's all in your head. If you can overcome that battle, you've got it all."

She doesn't wear a knee brace and, when icing, sometimes forgets and puts the bag on her left knee.

"I'm on pins and needles on the sideline every game, every time she goes down, and I'm thinking 'oh, my gosh — no, no, no!'" said Arin's father, Bruce. "But according to Dr. (Darren) Johnson, that knee's stronger than the other one now."

Arin is strong from within, but she credits her West Jessamine coach with an assist.

"Kevin Wright gave me my drive, my motivation, even a little bit of my craziness," Arin said. "Jon kind of gets mad at me because I kind of snap back and stuff, but I think I learned that from Kevin Wright. He put the fire in me. And he got me my shot." That shot makes her a threat whenever she gets a touch.

"It's hard to have a player like that and move her to the back line, it really is," Lipsitz said. "But if you want to be a great team and you want to be good in possession — which is the style that we're building now — you need great soccer players on the back line."

Gilliland, who has played outside back and in the middle on the national level, says she likes playing back. She gets the best of both ends — she has defensive responsibilities but, playing mostly on the outside, she is able to push up the field and attack.

Through her trials, mental and physical, Gilliland has maintained a zest for life.

A self-professed wanna-be hippie, she boasts of having a natural talent for making animal noises and other sound effects, ready to perform upon request. (Asked by a reporter, she offered a choice of a sheep, gorilla, and Avatar bird and war calls. She came through with a spot-on gorilla.)

Kayla Price, who shares UK goalkeeper duties with Kayla King, has known Gilliland since they were 5.

"For her to go through all the things she's been through in such a short period of time and still be funny and just laughing and loving life is a true testament to her personality," Price said. "She doesn't let anything slow her down. ... A great personality. Very mentally strong."

It's a special story when the hometown-area athlete becomes a hometown-school hero, Lipsitz said.

Especially when the athlete has overcome so much.

And a landscape addition to the UK soccer complex serves as a reminder.

"Jon and them actually put up a butterfly bush over here, and we have a little thing with my family — the butterflies are kind of a symbol of my mom," Arin said. "... Whenever I'm out here warming up and I see a butterfly, I think of her. Just the fact that she got to see me play here, I know she's still looking down and watching me."

Lions Look To Rebound At 1-7 Western Hills

By Danny Elam
delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

Garrard County will be looking to bounce back from last week's 28-8 district loss to Bourbon County when the Golden Lions invade Frankfort Friday to take on Western Hills.

On paper at least Garrard should have little trouble with the Wolverines but as any coach will tell you the games aren't played on paper.

After opening the seson with seven lopsided losses Western Hills picked up a 47-35 last week at Estill County.

Prior to that game the Wolverines had been outscored by an average score of 49-12.

The young Wolverines are led by sophomore quarterback Nick Young. He has a couple of nice receivers in sophomore Cody Willaims and senior Ethan Cox.

Senior Casey McLean and Cox are the Wolverines top receiving threats

Garrard XC Finds Success At Mercer

By Cole Grecco

The Garrard County cross country teams competed at Anderson Dean Park on October 2 at the Mercer County All-Comers meet.

The middle schools boys team finished in fifth place. The girls team finished in sixth place.

Eighth grader Shea Davis led the girls team with a 26th place finish and Braden Sebastian led the boys, coming in 23rd.

Assistant Coach Chris Grecco was pleased with the kids' effort, "I like that we are seeing improvement in just a couple of weeks. Between today and when we raced this same course two weeks ago, each of their times were lower."

The high school team had two finishers in the top 10 and was led by Cole Grecco who won by 38 seconds over Calvin Steber from Danville with a time of 18:10. Garratt Sparks finished in an impressive 7th place, in 19:51. Sparks improved his time by 33 seconds from when the team ran the course on September 18. Spencer Anderson also competed and finished with a time of 24:38.

Coach Grecco says the next few weeks are key for the high schoolers, "We have a few weeks now when we are light on meets, which is good. We've been saying all year that we want to peak in early November for regionals and, hopefully the state. Now is the time for the kids to build speed after working on stamina and endurance since August."

Talking Sports

With Danny Elam

UK FOOTBALL - I read an interesting interview this week with the daughter of former UK football coach Blanton Collier who was fired as Wildcat coach after the 1961 season. Collier was the last coach to leave UK with a winning overall record. Fran Curci came close with a 47-51-2 overall mark before being fired. Jerry Claiborne also came close with a 41-46-3 record before retiring. Collier's daughter said that she didn't think any coach could succeed at Kentucky. I am beginning to think she is right. She is also a staunch supporter of Joker Phillips. I disagree with her there. She points out the lack of division one high school players as a huge problem. I think that can be overcome with better recruiting. I think Joker should concentrate on the north much like Curci did. UK will never consistently get the best players out of the south. Joker may not have a lot to work with but who brought these players to Lexington? Phillips was also the recruiting coordinator under former coach Rich Brooks. UK can never compete in the SEC without putting more money into the program. If Joker is fired after the season and I see no way for him to stay, Mitch Barnhart needs to bring in a coach with a big national reputation, a football John Calipari. But I doubt that will happen. The attendance at the past two home games has been under 50,000 and that is with a very generous count. If there is one thing that Barnhart pays attention to, it is fannies in the seats. The only thing he understands is money.

Habitat News

By Roberta Keefe

Well, a new month and we are very close to being complete on the 113 home build. Our objective was to complete before the October 19th deadline set by our funding agent, Kentucky Housing Corp. It looks like we will be able to schedule the final inspection before then but will probably not have the deed and mortgage papers written up yet.

Our plumber, Steve Young came in over the weekend and completed most of his work. He lacks connecting the kitchen sink but that is because it has not had the hole cut in it to receive the sink. We are to get it cut early this week. He also needs to set the sewer pump, which is how the home's sewer system is connected to the city system. The homes on Baker and Doty were never connected due to the flow of the properties being way below the 27 road elevation.

We were able to install the front and back storm doors, which usually present some time consuming adjustment problems. Much to our amazement the first one went on exactly as the directions implied. When the closer was on and the first experimental open the door wide and let go, it slowly closed and the keeper clicked into place securely. We made a joyful whoop and high-fived all around. It was not nearly as impressive that the second door went on about like the first one. It did require a slight adjustment to the latch, but then clicked shut and securely just like the first one.

There are still a few punch-list items to complete under the home, like pipe wrap on all of the pipes and the rest of the insulation stapled into place, which had to wait until the HVAC duct work was completed. We will be glad to see this home completed.

Please, call Roberta at 859-548-2270 to help build.

Church & Community Ophelia Searcy

Good afternoon this beautiful Sunday October 7, 2012. The sun is shining brightly although the air is a little nippy.

Hope our relatives, friends, neighbors and readers are all well and happy.

Mr. Cecil Lewis Dunn's visitation and funeral was very well attended. Folks were there from many Kentucky cities, Alabama, Ohio, Indiana, Virginia and other states.

Cecil had done many good things in his life. He was well spoken of. Rest in peace, we will see you in the morning.

Barbara Pigg and I attended the 7th annual Mt. Pleasant Auxiliary Harvest Gathering held at First Baptist Church in Berea, Rev. J.K. Cunningham, host pastor. The program was very good. The food was so tasty and plenty of good food and punches. There were many in attendance.

I wasn't able to attend church today which I hated missing. I heard service was good. Pastor Brown preached from Matthew 23 and Subject: "Keeping Yourself Ready." He preached very much from this same subject last Sunday.

When considering the needs of others don't fail to do something simply because you can't do everything.

Take the name of Jesus with you.

That's all until next time.

October Birthdays

Hi family, friends and neighbors. Hope all is well at your house. This is the 4th of October and it is so pretty today.

The 4th is my grandson Johnny Bryant's birthday. Hope you have a good one.

My daughter Joyce Bryant has a birthday on October 19. I hope you two have a happy day.

My late son Jerry Johnson was born on the 14th of October. He was my only son and my baby. He passed away when he was 40 with his heart. We never got to tell him goodbye. How we miss him.

Marilyn Payne visited us on Tuesday of last week.

Edward & Genevieve Lamb visited us last Sunday and Roy Lamb and Irene Nunn.

Roy and two of his friends mowed the Stringtown Cemetery.

Paul Broughton visited us Thursday. I was so glad to see him. I love Paul for I have known him and being neighbors and friends for so long.

Irene Nunn and Sherry Bryant went to see her grandson Brayden May on Wednesday.

Linda Baker and Shirley Broughton visited Irene Nunn.

Please pray for Debbie Pingleton who is real sick and has been in the hospital a long time.

Remember to pray for Charles Lewis and Keith Saylor.

Regina Johnson, Logan Johnson and Darrell Phillips visited us on Thursday night.

Remember our leaders and our boys and girls in the service. They need our prayers.

God bless one and all.

Hi Venessa and Louise.

Doing Fall Gardening

The cold mornings have arrived due to the fall weather. The news kept telling us that we would have a frost over the weekend but it didn't happen of which I am very happy. Our grass is growing and needs mowing, maybe for the last time this year.

Husband is still digging holes for our mums that we are planting under our rail fence in the front yard. I'm still buying them at town on Danville Street in Lancaster. It is the best place I have found and the price for them is great. They are $6 for any size or color. Her name is Joyce Allen. She also has pumpkins, Indian corn and gourds of all kinds that are 25 cents each.

We went to the funeral home Sunday night to pay our respects to the family of David Grubbs. His funeral was Monday at 1 o'clock. His family is related to me.

Carl Lane recently had his 97th birthday. He fell and injured his arm and has a sling on. He is a most amazing person.

Watching TV is now a big mess. All you see and hear is politics. I didn't know until now that Romney is a Mormon. He is running for president against Obama. I hear that his family first came to Mexico and later came to the USA where he was born.

We are still watching the Reds play baseball. They are a great team. We love sports. Both of us have played on teams. I had a woman's fast pitch team in Lexington. I loved it. I still have my uniform. Those were fun times for us.

Our neighbor Vernon Montgomery has been transferred to the Danville hospital. I wish him and his wife a quick recovery.

Bye everyone and plan on voting. Our country needs peace and love through prayer.

Bye all.

Paint Lick Had Big Weekend

It's a spectacular Tuesday morning here in Paint Lick and the sun is shining the brightest I've seen in three days. It is so very still out with not a whisper of intent to delay the gorgeous day ahead. It was an amazing sight to look out earlier and take in the foggy mist which lay blanketed with just a hint of frost on the fields. What a wonderful day!

This past weekend was incredible with close to three hundred people choosing to spend their Friday evening at The Open House and Ribbon Cutting ceremony of the Paint Lick Community Arts Center. The many women who brought cookies are to be held in high esteem admiration....we had lots and lots of snack and cookies galore with coffee and Apple Cider. Halyvonn's Garden was a showcase of splendor as we all walked through what was once a bank and viewed a variety of paintings and drawings from those I didn't even know had an interest in art. Then, on a wet and cold Saturday morning, we all braved the dampness for Paint Lick's VillageFest. It was really good to see Bertha McQuerry sitting in that big truck of Johnny and Sandra Days' as they drove through town and we sang "happy birthday" to Bertha. I say "thank you" to everyone who came, visited and looked at all we had to offer. The Friends of Paint Lick are truly fortunate to have so many who are interested in coming to our town. You are the reason we are here.

Christmas in The Village will be held on Saturday, December 1 and we'll look forward to seeing everyone come back again as we celebrate the Lord's birthday.

You know, HE is good to us every day, if we just let HIM, for I am still in the process of gathering and canning tomatoes and juice and still yet we'll have some Irish potatoes that seemed to take on a second growing. Our cabbage looks good and the sweet potato vines are still green. Folks, I am blessed every day and sometimes to more than I can handle in one day. I've heard the saying all my growing years, "HE would not send anymore than I could take", so I am joyous with the thought of another tomorrow.

The front windows across the way at Copperhead Environmental Consulting is looking like Autumn with an array of large pumpkins for your Fall and Thanksgiving Display at home. Vicky is asking a small $5 for every pumpkin sold and entire proceeds will go to A.N.G.E.L.S. Food Bank which is located inside Copperhead. Just This morning, I was telling Mrs. Starnes I was eager to get a display started on my front porch. I do not get into Halloween preferring more to attend to the "thanks" given to our Lord at Thanksgiving. Autumn will then be in full swing.

A wonderful, happy birthday wish to my sister Linda Moberly on Monday, Oct. 15. She looks younger every day.

May God bless.

Looking Forward To VP Debate At Centre

The cold weather has really caught up with us. I don't think we can count on many more warm days.

Most folks are looking forward to the debate at Centre College. All the students had to take their cars home or somewhere else to make room for all the people.

Today is a pretty day but a cold one. This is my kind of weather. I love fall of the year.

Most football teams in this area are losing most of their games. Sometimes you have a good year and sometimes not.

Senior Citizens had their potluck last week. Twenty present.

Cecil Dunn's funeral was held last Thursday at 1st Baptist Church. A lifelong resident of Lancaster.

I feel that Coach Calipari feels pretty good after getting the famous Harrison twins from Texas to commit to UK.

Plenty Of Festivals This Time Of Year

Good morning to you. It's too early to be this cold but maybe it will warm up. But if not we will have to take what we get.

It's fall and all the kids are out of school for Fall Break. I know they are enjoying that and so are the bus drivers. There's a lot going on in the fall. Festivals, yard sales and such as that. It's a pretty time of year. The leaves are turning and the sun is shining through them. That's just one wonder of God's creations. He can make it beautiful and he can make it dreary.

I covered my tomato plants up last night. It never had a tomato on it until the last of September and now it is full of green tomatoes. I got three ripe ones off it and they are good tomatoes. I don't know what kind they are. I've never seen a plant do that before. They were given to me by Don Vanhook who lives almost in Paint Lick.

Freedom Baptist had a good homecoming. Steve went and had a good time talking to everyone. They had good food and fellowship.

Pray for the lost and our country.

God bless all.

More From Steve

Hello friends and neighbors on Nina Ridge and to everyone who takes The Central Record.

Down in the valley at Mt. Vernon the Antique Tractor & Engine Show this past weekend was a huge success even with the rain and cooler temps. Friday was a dream. Perfect sunny fall weather. Saturday did bring a shower early in the morning but cleared away by mid-morning. The sun shown through with a comforting gleam. The temps were cooler but it was soothed by hot coffee, chili and fried potatoes the Southeastern Engine Club provided to all the exhibitors and members that attended that day.

We enjoyed the company of probably over a thousand visitors to the show on Saturday. We had a silent auction and raffled off a peddle tractor and all who ple all around at home and hospitals. Please pray for them.

Have you ever known anyone that never told the truth about anything and stick to it and find out the next day that it was a lie? It is awful.

A church leader must declare God's message honestly. A Christian teaches and interprets the Ephesians' orders. The Ephesian elders had to proclaim one God in a city where many gods were worshiped. They had to stress marital fidelity at a time when women had few rights and promiscuous sex was practiced by some religious. Today they have similar responsibilities. They cannot afford to declare only half a gospel. Sinners need the Savior but they must accept him as Lord of their lives. Preachers must declare the Bible's message of salvation but they must also interpret it as a guide for continually remaking yourself.

paid their dues received pins and plaques and a goody bag provided by many vendors and local banks, The reward outweighed their investment. Plus members receive a monthly newsletter. This show at Renfro Valley was a special one because it was the first show our club has controlled the whole event.

The Appalachian Harvest Festival was a success along with the tractor and engine show. The vendors and participants said it was their best year ever. The entertainment was great and the crafts people were just in excellent display. The mule train came down Friday. We always enjoy seeing them. They truly are a pleasant sight to see there, beautiful rigs and teams. They are a special part of the whole experience at our event. They are always invited.

The Model A Ford Car Club always come down also. They paraded in the Bittersweet Festival in Mt. Vernon. A bunch of our tractor people also paraded in the Mt. Vernon Festival. Thanks for their support and cooperation. It made our show a complete success.

There were shows at the Big Red Barn at Renfro Valley Saturday night. Connie Smith and Marty Stewart were there for a great show. My wife Melanie and her mother Nancy Doolin and my wife's first cousin Sandy Peters attended the concert and stayed after the show to meet the entertainers and get their autographs. My mother-in-law is a senior citizen groupie. She has all their music and is huge Ray Price fan. She is enjoying herself and I am glad for her I hear she will wear you out since she got her knee replacement. God bless her to have continued good health.

We need to remember the Grubbs' family. I heard of the passing of David Grubbs this past weekend. We never know when God will call us home.

Goodbye and God bless everyone.
